ORDER

On March 7, 2014, this Court directed that Leonard Rowe ("Rowe") be held in contempt of this Court's December 6, 2013, Order for a Permanent Injunction and this Court's February 18, 2014, Contempt Order and civilly confined. (Order, Mar. 7, 2014 ("3/7/14 Order"), ECF No. 936.) The March 7, 2014, Order directed that Mr. Rowe be civilly confined until "such time as Rowe has purged his contempt by filing an affidavit, in the form attached hereto, with this Court demonstrating that he has withdrawn any and all UCC Financing Statements, along with any accompanying affidavits and exhibits, filed against Dentons, the Dentons Attorneys, WME, Loeb, or the Loeb Attorneys." (Id. at 4.)

On April 9, 2014, Mr. Rowe was arrested at his home in Atlanta, Georgia, pursuant to this Court's March 7, 2014, Order. (Mem. In Supp. of Pet. For Writ of Habeas Corpus ("Habeas Pet."), 1, 14 CV 1193 (RWS), ECF No. 1.) Mr. Rowe subsequently filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which was denied by Judge Richard Story of the Northern District of Georgia on July 16, 2014. (Order Denying Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus, July 16, 2014, 14 CV 1193 (RWS), ECF No. 16.)

After the denial of his habeas petition, Rowe, through his attorney, Kenneth Muhammad, Esq., indicated to Judge Story that he intended to purge himself of his contempt of this Court's Order, and filed documentation, in the forms attached hereto, with this Court. The documentation Mr. Muhammad filed with this Court included, inter alia, an affidavit signed by Leonard Rowe on July 24, 2014, and attached hereto, listing all of the liens that Mr. Rowe asserts that he filed against William Morris Endeavor Entertainment LLC, IMG Worldwide, LLC, Loeb & Loeb LLP, Dentons LLP, and any current or former affiliate, attorney, agent, or employee (collectively, the “Alleged Debtors”). In the signed affidavit of July 24, 2014, Mr. Rowe represented to each and every one of the Alleged Debtors, set forth in paragraph one of that affidavit, that the liens filed against them were being withdrawn and terminated. On July 29, 2014, Mr. Muhammad submitted to this Court file-stamped UCC financing statement amendments, attached hereto, terminating all of the liens that Mr. Rowe states that he has filed against the Alleged Debtors in any jurisdiction. The file-stamped UCC terminations did not include the language provided in paragraph three of Mr. Rowe’s July 24, 2014, affidavit. Mr. Muhammad argued that the language in paragraph three of Mr. Rowe’s affidavit could not be added to the UCC terminations, because, after a notice of termination has been filed, the County Clerk will not accept amendments to the liens that have been terminated by the purported lien holder.

Having reviewed the documentation submitted by Mr. Muhammad on behalf of Mr. Rowe, this Court found that, provided that Judge Story determined that, under Georgia law, after a notice of termination has been filed, the County Clerk will not accept amendments to the liens that have been terminated by the purported lien holder, Mr. Rowe had satisfied the terms of this Court’s March 7, 2014, Order, and purged himself of his contempt. The following day, on August 1, 2014, in the Order attached hereto, Judge Story concluded that Mr. Rowe had adequately purged himself of his contempt under Georgia law, and ordered Mr. Rowe released from custody. Given Judge Story's finding of Georgia law in his August 1, 2014, Order, and for the reasons discussed at length in the letter from this Court to Judge Story of the Northern District of Georgia dated July 31, 2014, and attached hereto, this Court finds that Mr. Rowe has satisfied the terms of this Court's March 7, 2014, Order, and purged himself of his contempt of this Court's December 6, 2013, Order for a Permanent Injunction, and its February 18, 2014, Contempt Order.

SO ORDERED.

Re: Rowe v. William Morris Endeavor Entertainment, LLC, 98 Civ. 8272

Dear Judge Story:

On July 24, 2014, Kenneth Muhammad, attorney for Leonard Rowe, filed an affidavit with this Court that had been signed by Leonard Rowe on that same day. Paragraph one of the affidavit listed all the liens Mr. Rowe asserts that he filed against William Morris Endeavor Entertainment LLC, IMG Worldwide, LLC, Loeb & Loeb LLP, Dentons LLP, and any current or former affiliate, attorney, agent or employee, including without limitation, Michael P. Zweig, Helen Gavaris, Michael Beck, Christian D. Carbone, Tal E. Dickstein, Michael Barnett, Martin R. Gold, Raymond J. Heslin, Christine Lepera, Richard Primoff, Elliott Portnoy, Edward J. Reich, and Joseph Andrew, and the jurisdiction in which they were filed, the date of filing, and the lien notice identification numbers. The complainants at Loeb & Loeb LLP and Dentons LLP confirmed that each lien listed in paragraph one had been filed in the jurisdictions listed in paragraph one. In the signed affidavit, Mr. Rowe represented to each and every one of the alleged debtors set forth in paragraph one that the liens filed against them were being withdrawn and terminated.

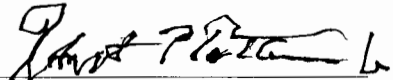

The next day, July 25, 2014, Mr. Muhammad filed a letter with this Court to inform the Court that he had mailed to each jurisdiction listed in paragraph one of Mr. Rowe's affidavit UCC financing statement amendments terminating the UCC statements filed by Leonard Rowe against all of the alleged debtors at Loeb & Loeb LLP, Dentons LLP, including current and former attorneys at those firms, and William Morris Endeavor Entertainment LLC. Attached to Mr. Muhammad's letter were copies of cover letters he sent to the Alabama Secretary of State, DeKalb County Superior Court in DeKalb County, Georgia, and Muscogee County Superior Court in Muscogee County, Georgia. Those letters state that UCC financing statement amendments are being filed on Mr. Rowe's behalf and that Mr. Rowe's objective is to terminate all UCC financing statements filed by Mr. Rowe in those jurisdictions.

On July 29, 2014, Mr. Muhammad submitted to this Court file-stamped UCC financing statements terminating each of the liens listed in paragraph one of Mr. Rowe's July 24, 2014, affidavit. These UCC terminations did not include the language included in paragraph three of Mr. Rowe's July 24, 2014, affidavit. On July 29, 2014, I was notified by telephone by Mr. Muhammad, who is apparently admitted to the Georgia bar, that the language provided in paragraph three of the Mr. Rowe's July 24, 2014, affidavit cannot be added to a UCC termination that has already been filed. In reviewing the UCC financing statement amendment form (UCC-3), Mr. Muhammad's interpretation of the form does not appear to be inconsistent with the way the form is drafted. The attorneys from Dentons LLP and Loeb & Loeb LLP, who disagree with Mr. Muhammad's description of the manner in which these liens can be amended after a notice of termination has been filed, have cited no case law in support of their argument. Unless you disagree with Mr. Muhammad's conclusion that after a notice of termination has been filed, the County Clerk will not accept amendments to the liens that have been terminated by the purported lien holder, I recommend that you find that Mr. Rowe has adequately purged himself of his contempt.

In a letter dated July 29, 2014, Mr. Muhammad informed the Court and the lawyers for the complainants that Mr. Rowe's July 24, 2014, affidavit, together with copies of the termination notices, could be used by the alleged debtors listed in paragraph one of Mr. Rowe's July 24, 2014, affidavit, to terminate any future liens or financing statements that Mr. Rowe might file on the same subject matter, not only in Alabama and Georgia, but in any other jurisdiction in which Mr. Rowe has filed or may attempt to file a lien relating to the same subject matter.

Because Mr. Rowe has signed the affidavit of July 24, 2014, and because Mr. Muhammad, acting on Mr. Rowe's behalf, has provided documentation showing that he has filed UCC financing statement amendments to terminate all of the liens he states that he has filed in any jurisdiction against William Morris Endeavor Entertainment LLC, Loeb & Loeb LLP, Dentons LLP, and any current or former affiliate, attorney, agent, or employee, and Mr. Muhammad has provided a letter to the Court on July 29, 2014, stating that Mr. Rowe's affidavit of July 24, 2014, could be used to terminate any other liens or financing statements that Mr. Rowe has filed or may file involving the same subject matter in any other jurisdiction, and unless you disagree with Mr. Muhammad's conclusion that after a notice of termination has been filed, the County Clerk will not accept amendments to the liens that have been terminated by the purported lien holder, I recommend that you release Mr. Rowe forthwith on the basis that each of the liens listed in paragraph one of Mr. Rowe's affidavit of July 24, 2014, are terminated and of no further force and effect, and I recommend that you find that Mr. Rowe has adequately purged himself of his contempt.

RE: Purge of Leonard Rowe

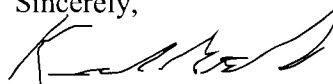

Dear Mr. Reich:

The purpose of this letter is to address the concern that you raised in your email today regarding the sufficiency of Leonard Rowe's effort to purge himself. It is my understanding that you are concerned that if Leonard Rowe files new UCC finance statements or liens in the future, you will not have language included within the termination documents that he recently filed stating that the liens never evidenced a valid debt.

I understand your concern. However, if new UCC finance statements or liens were filed in the future, the UCC termination form would not be an appropriate document to prove your point even if it included the language that you are requesting. The purpose of the termination form is simply to terminate or amend existing finance statements. Your true remedy lies within the affidavit that Leonard Rowe has already provided. The affidavit may be filed within future courts, evidencing the admission that you seek to establish with the termination form (within future UCC or lien cases specifically).

I hope we can agree that inclusion of additional language within a termination form would not provide any additional protection. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Muhammad
